[On screen] Donna: Bankwest State Manager, Business Banking WA and Australian Women's Indoor Cricket Coach.

You know my dad used to say you just have to have a goal, it doesn't have to be big, but you've gotta be going somewhere.

To represent your country is a huge honour. You've been given an opportunity that many others haven't.

[On screen] Nicole: Bankwest Executive Manager, Financial Crime Compliance and Flexible Work Champion

I've gone from being by myself to having a team of six people and being able to lead that group of people is just inspiring and invigorating.

My kids love that I can be there at their sporting activities and after school, and helping with their homework.

It's possible to be a mum and have a good career and have that work-life balance.

[On screen] Joe: Bankwest Personal Relationship Manager and Stand-up comedian.

There's a lot of responsibility that's put on you to try and help this client achieve their dream.

It's a great feeling knowing that I'm helping my customers, not just now, but also in their long-term future.

I guess we create this fun and friendly environment that I'm also able to take onto the stage and showcase it which makes my job as a stand-up comedian, you know, really really easy.

[On screen] Jody: Bankwest Senior Manager & Unity Trainer and Vice-President, Scarborough Surf Life Saving Club.

The support we get here at Bankwest from our leaders is very strong. It allows you to make a difference and challenge yourself.

Down on the beach training, you see people gain confidence and leadership, and that's something that comes to the Unity training, is making our colleagues confident to stand up and make a difference for each other.

Donna: What can I do today to be better than I was yesterday. You've gotta have dreams and you've gotta go after them.
